This November there are issues on the ballot that limit access to Reproductive Health services, limit our rights to marry who we love and limit our opportunities by putting more youth behind bars. Most high school youth do not have the ability to mark their opinions on the ballot, but that doesn't mean they can't make an impact on this year's elections.

The SAFIRE youth organizing program of Asian Communities for Reproductive Justice (ACRJ) will be hosting a conference on how youth can fight for Reproductive Justice through Electoral Organizing.

If you want to come to the conference contact...
